A FORM ON PATRIOTISM
by Jimmy Lahey

Our men they fight and risk their necks,
In rice paddies of Vietnam
Some people have the wrong idea,
Of what their lives are like.

A lot of men just shrug
They live as good as us,
But we're really a long way off,
From what their lives are like.

But if you're asked to volunteer,
To fight in Vietnam,
I hope you'll stand up and say,
I'll fight for this dear old land.

SITTING HERE IN this comfortable chair brings back many memories of my youth. I was born in Eastern Russia on April 1, 1903. At the age of 7 I was unmercifully separated from my mother, never to see her again.

Much to my protest they dragged me to a communist prison camp. At this camp the officials governed everything by themselves. They put uniforms on us and made us carry guns. They taught us that there was no God, and to worship our leaders. There was no democracy whatsoever. The officials made us stay in this homely kind of prison until we were smart enough and could be trusted enough to work for the government. By doing this we were supposed to invent new machines and atomic devices to help take over other countries. If we refused we would be beheaded.

One day there was a small flood and part of the wall around our city collapsed. I took this as my big chance to get away. I slipped into some working clothes and very carefully and quietly got away from that terrible country. I ran as fast and as far as I could until I thought I was safe. I found a people willing to lend me a hand.

While lying on the bed at night going over the happenings of the day, about midnight a door opened and a dozen Communist soldiers barged in with even asking if anyone was home. This is another undemocratic thing about this country. I escaped out the back window and by some way after a long, long time, I reached the ocean. The people, after hearing my story, gave me tickets to a wonderful country called America. There I would be free from the bonds which I had carried. I arrived here, found a job, and a wife. Now I am a grandfather. I have had the privilege of watching my children grow up and go to school. In this democratic country we have much, much more personal freedom. I think that we should all be proud of this wonderful country in which we live. To be able to obtain the best education in the world at the most modern schools. We also have the right to speak about our country freely whereas in the Old Country we would be killed. We have the right to travel all over the USA without having to carry special passports and forms. I think too many people in America take our freedom and rights for granted. YOU just think what it would be like without a nice warm home and your mom being away forever.

The foregoing Editorial was written by a student of the Washington Irving Jr High School in Colorado Springs, Colorado.
TEASE VERSE:

Don't lose your head
To save a minute
You need your head
Your brain is in it.

I shot a sneeze into the air,
It fell to the earth, I knew not where;
But later on, so I am told
Some twenty others had my cold.

Of all life's little oddities,
This one can really vex;
The boy who wrote the worst in school
Now signs the biggest checks.

I'd be the Captain of my Soul
When Life's grim storm clouds thicken
I'd be the Master of my Fate--
If I were not so chicken!

An Englishman recently visited Switzerland for an apartment to move into during the summer months. He asked a schoolmaster if he could help him find one. After looking through their town the Englishman found a suitable one, and everything was settled. So the Englishman returned to make final preparations.

At home the Englishman thought about the apartment, it occurred to him that it had no water closet (toilet—the English call the bathroom "Water Closet"). Immediately the Englishman wrote to the schoolmaster asking if there was a "W.C." near the apartment. The schoolmaster was a very poor master of English; so he asked the parish priest to help him find the meaning of the initials "W.C." The only solution that they could find was that it meant "Wayside Chapel". Then the schoolmaster wrote the following letter:

Dear Sir: I take great pride in informing you that there is a "W.C." situated about nine miles from the apartment, located in the center of a beautiful garden of pine trees. It is capable of holding 22 people and is open on Sundays and Wednesdays as there is a great number of people expected during the summer months.

I would suggest you come early. This is unfortunate if you are in the habit of going regularly. You will no doubt be interested in knowing that some of the people bring their own lunch and make a day of it. I would especially advise you to come on Sundays when there is organ accompaniment. The acoustics are beautiful and the most delicate sounds can be heard.

It may interest you to know that my daughter was married in the "W.C." It was there that they met. I look back on the rush for seats. A seat—usually occupied by one—was then occupied by two. It was wonderful to look back and see the expressions on their faces. My wife, rather delicate as she is, cannot go there and has not been there for eight years, and it pains her so. It has been a pleasure to be of some help.

12TH EVACUATEERS
DOomed by 125TH

The well balanced medical EVACUATEERS football team was doomed on Newyear's eve by the almost all West Point team from the 125th Signal Bn.

The game played on the home field of the 125th saw the ELECTRONS end it all by a score of 14 to 12.
