KIN
BULLETIN No. 330

USMACV Code: KIN

Dog Log #

Summary

The echelons of command, down to the company and platoon levels, failed to conform to principle. Discipline was loosely observed. Cadre did not understand their responsibilities and lacked determination to carry out the Party's resolutions and talked freely about internal affairs. Collective command and individual responsibility were not fully developed. Therefore, cadre's lack of zeal and initiative for missions affected the results of missions as well as organization of the unit.

In addition, unit commanders could not assess the enemy situation properly. Their failure to predict possible situations, usually made their plans ineffective.

2. Plan of actions:

Ideological tasks: Cadre and Party members must be indoctrinated within 6 months on the following:

- "Let's be determined to defeat the American aggressors for better living conditions."
- "How to conduct the activity of an agency Party Chapter."

Preparation for a reorientation phase:

- Ceasefire 3 Pan would be responsible for settling up training areas with sufficient artillery and airfield shelters for 15 to 20 trainees in 95 area. Three workers (Lt. Lien, 9 Thanh and 9 Long, from the Propaganda and Training section) would be assigned to help him with this work.

- "We" would be responsible for training area.

- Lt. Pham for the communication and reception points.

- Reception personnel: 6 Hong, Miss Huynh, Ten and a number of others would establish contact with the civilian people.

- 2 Ngoc and 3 Silver would act as liaison personnel between the Propaganda and Administrative Staff. Guests would be turned over to the Propaganda and Training section.

Three missions of the movement:

A. Promote a growing and progressive phase of transporting weapons, magazines, books, newspapers, etc.

B. Change the technical service forms.
Decrease operational ranges by restricting coo-lo-liison personnel, to 2 stations, except in the emergency cases.

C: Conduct thrusts into weak and coastal areas of the enemy to establish coo-lo-liison stations, personnel relay points and friendly agencies.

- Development of an armed action unit with an estimated strength of one to two platoons at the beginning. All B's were required to train local personnel to replace A2 (security guard section).

Primarily, following personnel were assigned to form the nucleus of the armed action unit: 2 Nungs, 5 Thanh, 5 Thu, 3 Loc and 6 hang. Others were under consideration and would be assigned in the future.

- Consolidation of organization and discipline:
  - Fight off the attitude of complacency and extreme democracy among personnel attending the guest (and giving) service to cadre.
  - From now on, any person who wants to contest the unit commander's office must go through the standing section (3 ly's house) and see 5 Thanh. As for B's, see 3 Minh.

- Instructions for cover designation "B":
  - Standing office: B1
  - Administrative staff /section/: B2
  - Propaganda & Training /section/: B3
  - Operations & Training /section/: B4
  - Coo-lo-liison /section/: B5
  - (Coo-lo-liison) route: B6
  - Unit Commander's office: B7
